Dear Friends,

Reflecting on the last year (and more than fifty years of social justice activism), it is clear to me that one size doesn’t fit all. It is clear that we must be steadfast, but also adaptive and flexible and responsive.

Across the country and in Oregon, we continue to see:
- The militarization of our police and our borders
- Unchecked environmental degradation
- Expanding economic inequity and attacks on workers’ rights
- And a seemingly endless fight against racism, sexism, and homophobia

These challenges are too big and too complex to tackle with a single solution. To truly ignite social change, our work must fit the communities we serve. When it does, we’re able to accomplish incredible things.

We secure the freedom for LGBTQ couples to marry, when it seemed a far-off dream just a few years ago. We spark conversations about climate justice and green industry in communities once dominated by logging and resource extraction. We build an ever-stronger immigrant rights movement, even in the face of painful setbacks. And we do so much more.

Which is why this report is not only about MRG Foundation, it’s about the difference we’ve made—and will continue to make—together. If you gave a gift, if you rallied for change, if you volunteered as a grantmaker or at an event, if you voted your values—you were a part of advancing social and racial justice in Oregon.

So, when you read about Rogue Climate on page 5, who’s just getting started but is already doing fabulous work building a multigenerational movement for climate justice in Southern Oregon, or the Center for Intercultural Organizing on page 11, who received seed funding from MRG more than ten years ago and has since grown into a powerful movement leader, I hope you’ll take a moment to congratulate yourself for the part you played.

And then I hope you’ll recommit to igniting social change with MRG Foundation. With your continued support and passion and thoughtful engagement, I know that we can build an Oregon where people, cultures, and ecosystems thrive!

Sharon Gary-Smith
Executive Director
Dear Friends,

Reflecting on the last year (and more than fifty years of social justice activism), it is clear to me that one size doesn’t fit all. It is clear that we must be steadfast, but also adaptive and flexible and responsive.

Across the country and in Oregon, we continue to see:
- The militarization of our police and our borders
- Unchecked environmental degradation
- Expanding economic inequity and attacks on workers’ rights
- And a seemingly endless fight against racism, sexism, and homophobia

These challenges are too big and too complex to tackle with a single solution. To truly ignite social change, our work must fit the communities we serve. When it does, we’re able to accomplish incredible things.

We secure the freedom for LGBTQ couples to marry, when it seemed a far-off dream just a few years ago. We spark conversations about climate justice and green industry in communities once dominated by logging and resource extraction. We build an ever-stronger immigrant rights movement, even in the face of painful setbacks. And we do so much more.

Which is why this report is not only about MRG Foundation, it’s about the difference we’ve made—and will continue to make—together. If you gave a gift, if you rallied for change, if you volunteered as a grantmaker or at an event, if you voted your values—you were a part of advancing social and racial justice in Oregon.

So, when you read about Rogue Climate on page 5, who’s just getting started but is already doing fabulous work building a multigenerational movement for climate justice in Southern Oregon, or the Center for Intercultural Organizing on page 11, who received seed funding from MRG more than ten years ago and has since grown into a powerful movement leader, I hope you’ll take a moment to congratulate yourself for the part you played.

And then I hope you’ll recommit to igniting social change with MRG Foundation. With your continued support and passion and thoughtful engagement, I know that we can build an Oregon where people, cultures, and ecosystems thrive!

Sharon Gary-Smith
Executive Director
GROWING the movement with seed funding

It’s risky to fund groups that don’t have a proven track record of success, which is why few foundations are interested in supporting emerging groups. But throughout MRG’s history, we’ve seen that small grants made when a new group is just getting off the ground can be the catalyst for a tremendous impact. MRG’s seed funding grants are long-term investments in innovative leaders, emerging issues, and new ideas that Oregon needs to tackle our biggest challenges.

EMERGING GROUPS FUNDED IN 2013-14

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Group</th>
<th>City</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Community Rights Lane County</td>
<td>Eugene</td>
<td>$5,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kitchen Commons</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$4,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Right 2 Dream, Too</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$6,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rogue Climate</td>
<td>Ashland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unidos Bridging Community</td>
<td>McMinnville</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SEED FUNDING THROUGH THE YEARS

1979  Sisters of the Road Café
1983  Cascade AIDS Project
1984  Black United Fund of Oregon
1995  Causa Oregon
1999  Partnership for Safety & Justice
2001  Center for Intercultural Organizing
2004  Disabled United in Direct Empowerment

IMPACT PROFILE

Unidos Building Community and Rogue Climate

Launched in 2012, Unidos Bridging Community is the only Yamhill County-based group focused on advancing immigrant rights. With a combination of citizenship classes, policy advocacy, and community education events they are building a powerful community of Latino immigrants and White allies committed to making Yamhill County a welcoming community that values and respects its diversity.

Hundreds of miles away, Rogue Climate is mobilizing Southern Oregonians concerned about climate change. Led by millennial organizers, they’ve hosted some of the largest climate actions in the history of the state, engaging over 1,000 people concerned about climate change in events in Medford, Ashland, and Salem.

Two groups, working with different communities on different issues. But they have much in common. Both are deeply rooted in their communities and committed to building multiracial, multigenerational movements. Both groups are just two years old, but they have inspiring visions with the potential to shape their communities for decades to come. And both were awarded $8,000 grants from MRG this year—the first foundation grant and largest single gift either group has received. This seed funding will help them build infrastructure, inspire support from other funders, and deliver on their visions for a just and joyful Oregon.

“We are already starting to see the impacts of climate change in Southern Oregon, but funding from MRG supports us in taking immediate action and challenging entrenched interests.”

—Shaun Franks, Rogue Climate
GROWING the movement
with seed funding

It’s risky to fund groups that don’t have a proven track record of success, which is why few foundations are interested in supporting emerging groups. But throughout MRG’s history, we’ve seen that small grants made when a new group is just getting off the ground can be the catalyst for a tremendous impact. MRG’s seed funding grants are long-term investments in innovative leaders, emerging issues, and new ideas that Oregon needs to tackle our biggest challenges.

EMERGING GROUPS FUND IN 2013-14

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Community Rights Lane County</th>
<th>Eugene</th>
<th>$5,000</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kitchen Commons</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$4,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Right 2 Dream, Too</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$6,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rogue Climate</td>
<td>Ashland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unidos Bridging Community</td>
<td>McMinnville</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

IMPACT PROFILE
Unidos Building Community and Rogue Climate

Launched in 2012, Unidos Bridging Community is the only Yamhill County-based group focused on advancing immigrant rights. With a combination of citizenship classes, policy advocacy, and community education events they are building a powerful community of Latino immigrants and White allies committed to making Yamhill County a welcoming community that values and respects its diversity.

Hundreds of miles away, Rogue Climate is mobilizing Southern Oregonians concerned about climate change. Led by millennial organizers, they’ve hosted some of the largest climate actions in the history of the state, engaging over 1,000 people concerned about climate change in events in Medford, Ashland, and Salem.

Two groups, working with different communities on different issues. But they have much in common. Both are deeply rooted in their communities and committed to building multiracial, multigenerational movements.

Both groups are just two years old, but they have inspiring visions with the potential to shape their communities for decades to come. And both were awarded $8,000 grants from MRG this year—the first foundation grant and largest single gift either group has received. This seed funding will help them build infrastructure, inspire support from other funders, and deliver on their visions for a just and joyful Oregon.

“We are already starting to see the impacts of climate change in Southern Oregon, but funding from MRG supports us in taking immediate action and challenging entrenched interests.”

—Shaun Franks, Rogue Climate

SEED FUNDING THROUGH THE YEARS

1979  Sisters of the Road Café
1983  Cascade AIDS Project
1984  Black United Fund of Oregon
1995  Causa Oregon
1999  Partnership for Safety & Justice
2001  Center for Intercultural Organizing
2004  Disabled United in Direct Empowerment
RESPONDING
in times of need

There are moments when justice can’t wait. When community members are primed and ready to respond to an injustice or seize on an opportunity and they just need a small injection of resources to spark change. That’s where MRG’s Critical Response grants come into play. To help groups respond to an unexpected crisis or organizing opportunity, our Critical Response Grantmakers can award up to $2,000 in as little as two weeks. Social change doesn’t happen according to a schedule, so MRG is ready to respond whenever an opportunity arises.

TRAVEL & CRITICAL RESPONSE GRANTS IN 2013-2014

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Organization</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Albina Ministerial Alliance</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$2,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Causa Oregon</td>
<td>Salem</td>
<td>$5,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KPOV High Desert Community Radio</td>
<td>Bend</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KSKQ Radio</td>
<td>Medford</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Confederated Tribes of the Lower Rogue</td>
<td>Coos Bay</td>
<td>$800</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Momentum Alliance</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Occupy Roseburg</td>
<td>Roseburg</td>
<td>$2,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October 1st Conference Committee</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$2,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OPAL Environmental Justice Oregon</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portland Central America Solidarity Committee</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Project REconomy</td>
<td>Central Point</td>
<td>$600</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

IMPACT PROFILE

Occupy Roseburg

Occupy Roseburg has been shifting the dialogue about affordable housing in Douglas County since 2011. Their weekly “Feed the ‘Burg” gathering provides food and supplies to people who need them, while creating a powerful organizing and community building opportunity. Like far too many cities, Roseburg criminalizes people experiencing homelessness. The local police “sweep” unhoused people out of their campsites, arresting or ticketing people whose main crime is that they don’t have access to safe housing.

But this spring, Occupy Roseburg gained a new ally in the form of a local church who wanted to see a big change in how the city was talking about homelessness in Roseburg. This offer of support was well timed, with growing, widespread discontent with the City Council’s inaction. A Critical Response grant from MRG helped Occupy Roseburg partner with the church and community groups to launch a demonstration housing project and bring people together to confront this pressing issue.

Because of MRG’s support, Occupy Roseburg was able to take action at an opportune moment, bring in new allies, and spark critical dialogue about affordable housing in Douglas County. Constructing safe, decent shelter for Roseburg’s unhoused population is an ongoing project, but Occupy Roseburg’s demonstration project has moved the conversation about affordable housing forward by leaps and bounds.

GRANTMAKING BY GEOGRAPHY

- Portland Metro 31%
- Statewide 27%
- Willamette Valley 21%
- Southern Oregon 12%
- Central/Eastern Oregon 9%

MRG GRANTEES

- People of Color 50%
- Immigrants & Refugees 28%
- Low Income People 26%
RESPONDING
in times of need

There are moments when justice can’t wait. When community members are primed and ready to respond to an injustice or seize on an opportunity and they just need a small injection of resources to spark change. That’s where MRG’s Critical Response grants come into play. To help groups respond to an unexpected crisis or organizing opportunity, our Critical Response Grantmakers can award up to $2,000 in as little as two weeks. Social change doesn’t happen according to a schedule, so MRG is ready to respond whenever an opportunity arises.

TRAVEL & CRITICAL RESPONSE GRANTS IN 2013-2014

Albina Ministerial Alliance
Portland $2,000
Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon
Portland $1,000
Causa Oregon
Salem $5,000
KPOV High Desert Community Radio
Bend $1,000
KSKQ Radio
Medford $1,000
Confederated Tribes of the Lower Rogue
Coos Bay $800
Momentum Alliance
Portland $1,000
Occupy Roseburg
Roseburg $2,000
October 1st Conference Committee
Portland $2,000
OPAL Environmental Justice Oregon
Portland $1,000
Portland Central America Solidarity Committee
Portland $1,000
Project REconomy
Central Point $600

IMPACT PROFILE

Occupy Roseburg

Occupy Roseburg has been shifting the dialogue about affordable housing in Douglas County since 2011. Their weekly “Feed the ‘Burg” gathering provides food and supplies to people who need them, while creating a powerful organizing and community building opportunity.

Like far too many cities, Roseburg criminalizes people experiencing homelessness. The local police “sweep” unhoused people out of their campsites, arresting or ticketing people whose main crime is that they don’t have access to safe housing.

But this spring, Occupy Roseburg gained a new ally in the form of a local church who wanted to see a big change in how the city was talking about homelessness in Roseburg. This offer of support was well timed, with growing, widespread discontent with the City Council’s inaction. A Critical Response grant from MRG helped Occupy Roseburg partner with the church and community groups to launch a demonstration housing project and bring people together to confront this pressing issue.

Because of MRG’s support, Occupy Roseburg was able to take action at an opportune moment, bring in new allies, and spark critical dialogue about affordable housing in Douglas County. Constructing safe, decent shelter for Roseburg’s unhoused population is an ongoing project, but Occupy Roseburg’s demonstration project has moved the conversation about affordable housing forward by leaps and bounds.

GRANTMAKING BY GEOGRAPHY

- Portland Metro 31%
- Statewide 27%
- Willamette Valley 21%
- Southern Oregon 12%
- Central/Eastern Oregon 9%

MRG GRANTEES LED BY:

- People of Color 50%
- Immigrants & Refugees 28%
- Low Income People 26%
EMPOWERING those most impacted

MRG makes grants based on a simple but radical premise: those most directly impacted by an issue are best positioned to develop strategies for change. This applies to both how we fund and what we fund. Our grant decisions are made by a group of grassroots organizers from across the state who have deep experience in a variety of issues. And we award grants to groups whose leadership reflects the communities they serve. This grantmaking strategy increases both accountability and impact.

COMMUNITY GRANTS IN 2013-14

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Organization</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Amigos Multicultural Services Center</td>
<td>Eugene</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Common Cause Oregon</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lotus Rising Project</td>
<td>Ashland</td>
<td>$9,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Confederated Tribes of the Lower Rogue</td>
<td>Coos Bay</td>
<td>$8,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Disability Art and Culture Project</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Human Dignity Coalition</td>
<td>Bend</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Interfaith Movement for Immigrant Justice</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Komemma Cultural Protection Association</td>
<td>Yoncalla</td>
<td>$8,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KPOV High Desert Community Radio</td>
<td>Bend</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KSKQ Radio</td>
<td>Medford</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lakota Oyate KI</td>
<td>Salem</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Latino Club</td>
<td>Salem</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAACP Eugene-Springfield</td>
<td>Eugene</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portland Central America Solidarity Committee</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$5,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PFLAG Portland Black Chapter</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Red Lodge Transition Services</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$9,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Right 2 Survive</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unete Center for Farmworker Advocacy</td>
<td>Medford</td>
<td>$9,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Human Dignity Coalition

In 1992, Central Oregonians came together in Bend to defeat the virulently homophobic Ballot Measure 9. No one realized that they were laying the seeds for decades of work by the Human Dignity Coalition to make their communities more inclusive, fair, and just.

In 2014, far too many lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, and queer (LGBTQ) people in rural communities still face harsh economic and social penalties for being “out” as gay, lesbian, bisexual, or trans—and for youth in these communities, the isolation and invisibility can be particularly devastating.

The Human Dignity Coalition puts LGBTQ Oregonians at the forefront of their work and intentionally develops and empowers LGBTQ youth leaders through their Queer and Allied Youth Program. Adults provide mentorship and support to LGBTQ student leaders as they organize a Queer Prom, Day of Silence, and Gay/Straight Alliances in Central Oregon high schools. These programs have served over 150 youth, challenging stereotypes and prejudice to make Central Oregon a more welcoming place for LGBTQ Oregonians.

“\r\n\r
I understand the struggles of my community and MRG’s Grantmaking Committee is one place I can contribute my knowledge, experience, and heart to making this world a better place.”

—Vicky Falcón-Vázquez, MRG Grantmaker & Board Member
EMPOWERING
those most impacted

MRG makes grants based on a simple but radical premise: those most directly impacted by an issue are best positioned to develop strategies for change. This applies to both how we fund and what we fund. Our grant decisions are made by a group of grassroots organizers from across the state who have deep experience in a variety of issues. And we award grants to groups whose leadership reflects the communities they serve. This grantmaking strategy increases both accountability and impact.

COMMUNITY GRANTS IN 2013-14

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Organization</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Amigos Multicultural Services Center</td>
<td>Eugene</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Common Cause Oregon</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Confederated Tribes of the Lower Rogue</td>
<td>Coos Bay</td>
<td>$8,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Disability Art and Culture Project</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Human Dignity Coalition</td>
<td>Bend</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Interfaith Movement for Immigrant Justice</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Komemma Cultural Protection Association</td>
<td>Yoncalla</td>
<td>$8,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KPOV High Desert Community Radio</td>
<td>Bend</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KSKQ Radio</td>
<td>Medford</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lakota Oyate Ki</td>
<td>Salem</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Latino Club</td>
<td>Salem</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lotus Rising Project</td>
<td>Ashland</td>
<td>$9,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mujeres Luchadoras Progresistas</td>
<td>Woodburn</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAACP Eugene-Springfield</td>
<td>Eugene</td>
<td>$7,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portland Central America Solidarity Committee</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$5,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PFLAG Portland Black Chapter</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$10,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Red Lodge Transition Services</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$9,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Right 2 Survive</td>
<td>Portland</td>
<td>$8,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unete Center for Farmworker Advocacy</td>
<td>Medford</td>
<td>$9,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Voz Hispana Causa Chavista</td>
<td>Woodburn</td>
<td>$8,500</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

IMPACT PROFILE

Human Dignity Coalition

In 1992, Central Oregonians came together in Bend to defeat the virulently homophobic Ballot Measure 9. No one realized that they were laying the seeds for decades of work by the Human Dignity Coalition to make their communities more inclusive, fair, and just.

In 2014, far too many lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, and queer (LGBTQ) people in rural communities still face harsh economic and social penalties for being “out” as gay, lesbian, bisexual, or trans—and for youth in these communities, the isolation and invisibility can be particularly devastating.

The Human Dignity Coalition puts LGBTQ Oregonians at the forefront of their work and intentionally develops and empowers LGBTQ youth leaders through their Queer and Allied Youth Program. Adults provide mentorship and support to LGBTQ student leaders as they organize a Queer Prom, Day of Silence, and Gay/Straight Alliances in Central Oregon high schools. These programs have served over 150 youth, challenging stereotypes and prejudice to make Central Oregon a more welcoming place for LGBTQ Oregonians.

“I understand the struggles of my community and MRG’s Grantmaking Committee is one place I can contribute my knowledge, experience, and heart to making this world a better place.”

—Vicky Falcón-Vázquez, MRG Grantmaker & Board Member
MRG not only supports emerging groups—we stick with them as they grow to scale. We make deep investments, up to $20,000, in organizations that have overcome obstacles to become powerful movement leaders. What makes a group a movement leader? Not just more members, but a track record of successes, strong relationships with other grassroots organizations, and a vision for a just and joyful Oregon. We’re in this for the long haul, and so are these organizations.

LEADERSHIP GROUPS FUNDED IN 2013-2014

- Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon
  Portland $19,500

- Community Alliance of Tenants
  Portland $17,000

- Community Alliance of Lane County
  Eugene $9,000

- CAPACES Leadership Institute
  Woodburn $15,000

- Friends of Family Farmers
  Molalla $15,000

- Friends of Family Farmers
  Molalla $15,000

- Friends of Family Farmers
  Molalla $15,000

- Momentum Alliance
  Portland $16,000

- Northwest Workers’ Justice Project
  Portland $14,000

- OPAL Environmental Justice Oregon
  Portland $19,500

- Oregon Action
  Portland $15,000

- Oregon Rural Action
  La Grande $20,000

- Rural Organizing Project
  Scappoose $16,000

- Street Roots
  Portland $20,000

- Voz Workers’ Rights Education Project
  Portland $20,000

- Voz Workers’ Rights
  Portland $20,000

IMPAKT PROFILE

Center for Intercultural Organizing (CIO) was founded in 2002 to combat anti-Muslim bias and a rising tide of militarism after the September 11 attacks. MRG was the first foundation to step forward with a grant, supporting CIO when they were an all-volunteer group with a limited track record.

As we’ve stuck with them for more than a decade, CIO has racked up victories and grown into a powerful voice for Oregon’s immigrants and refugees. They’ve secured major victories on a number of issues, including:

- Passing a Limited English Proficiency policy in Beaverton, making city government accessible to more residents.
- Expanding the new American electorate, including registering over 1,600 new voters and engaging 400 volunteers in grassroots campaigns.
- Training over 120 immigrant and refugee leaders since 2008 and building the capacity of seven smaller immigrant- and refugee-rights groups.
- Persuading more than a dozen Oregon counties to stop collaborating with Immigration & Customs Enforcement and deny detention requests.
- Working with partners to pass a slate of racial justice legislation in 2013, including culturally specific healthcare, tuition equity for undocumented students, and racial impact statements for all state legislation.

In 2015, CIO is organizing a broad coalition to stand against police profiling. Their work to ensure that Oregonians of color can walk down the street without fear of police harassment has the potential to serve as a national model to turn the tide on public safety and criminal justice issues!

“We started with no infrastructure, but MRG invested in us and we used the grants to create a strong, immigrant and refugee-led organization. Today, CIO is a nationally recognized model for cross-cultural organizing—this would not have been possible without MRG.”

—Kayse Jama, Center for Intercultural Organizing
MRG not only supports emerging groups—we stick with them as they grow to scale. We make deep investments, up to $20,000, in organizations that have overcome obstacles to become powerful movement leaders. What makes a group a movement leader? Not just more members, but a track record of successes, strong relationships with other grassroots organizations, and a vision for a just and joyful Oregon. We’re in this for the long haul, and so are these organizations.

LEADERSHIP GROUPS FUNDED IN 2013-2014

Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon
Portland $19,500

Beyond Toxics
Eugene $10,000

CAPACES Leadership Institute
Woodburn $15,000

Center for Intercultural Organizing
Portland $20,000

Community Alliance of Lane County
Eugene $9,000

Community Alliance of Tenants
Portland $17,000

Friends of Family Farmers
Molalla $15,000

Georgia Clinch
Portland $10,000

Momentum Alliance
Portland $16,000

Northwest Workers’ Justice Project
Portland $14,000

OPAL Environmental Justice Oregon
Portland $19,500

Oregon Action
Portland $15,000

Oregon Rural Action
La Grande $20,000

Rural Organizing Project
Scappoose $16,000

Street Roots
Portland $20,000

Voz Workers’ Rights
Portland $20,000

Voz Workers’ Rights Education Project
Portland $20,000

GRANTMAKING BY ISSUE

- Immigrant Rights 22%
- Economic Justice 17%
- Housing & Homelessness 13%
- Environmental Protection 13%
- Criminal Justice 10%
- Cultural Preservation 7%
- LGBTQ Rights 7%
- Civic Engagement 6%
- Youth & Education 5%

IMPACT PROFILE

Center for Intercultural Organizing (CIO) was founded in 2002 to combat anti-Muslim bias and a rising tide of militarism after the September 11 attacks. MRG was the first foundation to step forward with a grant, supporting CIO when they were an all-volunteer group with a limited track record.

As we’ve stuck with them for more than a decade, CIO has racked up victories and grown into a powerful voice for Oregon’s immigrants and refugees. They’ve secured major victories on a number of issues, including:

- Passing a Limited English Proficiency policy in Beaverton, making city government accessible to more residents.
- Expanding the new American electorate, including registering over 1,600 new voters and engaging 400 volunteers in grassroots campaigns.
- Training over 120 immigrant and refugee leaders since 2008 and building the capacity of seven smaller immigrant- and refugee-rights groups.
- Persuading more than a dozen Oregon counties to stop collaborating with Immigration & Customs Enforcement and deny detention requests.
- Working with partners to pass a slate of racial justice legislation in 2013, including culturally specific healthcare, tuition equity for undocumented students, and racial impact statements for all state legislation.

In 2015, CIO is organizing a broad coalition to stand against police profiling. Their work to ensure that Oregonians of color can walk down the street without fear of police harassment has the potential to serve as a national model to turn the tide on public safety and criminal justice issues!

“We started with no infrastructure, but MRG invested in us and we used the grants to create a strong, immigrant and refugee-led organization. Today, CIO is a nationally recognized model for cross-cultural organizing—this would not have been possible without MRG.”

—Kayse Jama, Center for Intercultural Organizing
GIVING
more than money

Where do you go when you want to connect with other people committed to social justice? In addition to the grantmaking programs at the core of our work, MRG nurtures a community of justice-seekers committed to social change through community conversations, justice socials, and signature events. Our deep connections with movement leaders across the state and across issues offer unique opportunities for thought-provoking dialogue and collective action.

IMPACT PROFILE

Critical Community Conversations

In summer 2013, two events rocked the U.S. as stark examples of how far we still have to go on racism: the Supreme Court blocked part of the 1964 Voting Rights Act, and the nation reeled with the implications of the acquittal of George Zimmerman in the killing of Trayvon Martin.

To give people a chance to come together and discuss how to respond to these setbacks in the long arc of work toward racial justice, MRG organized community conversations in Portland, Eugene, and Ashland. Drawing over 175 participants, the conversations created a space for people to consider the ramifications of these setbacks and plan for action.

At the same time, MRG funded a march on the 50th Anniversary of the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom organized by Albina Ministerial Alliance. AMA’s march protested the Supreme Court’s gutting of the Voting Rights Act and ignited a conversation about voting rights in Oregon.

MRG’s community conversations are supplemented throughout the year by justice socials and signature events like Justice within Reach, the Social Justice Summer Party in Eugene, and our Southern Oregon Celebration. When paired with our grantmaking, these community gatherings build a diverse and powerful foundation for social change in Oregon.

"MRG gives grassroots groups what they need to succeed, including networking opportunities, training, and other tools that help groups develop their ability to be inclusive and effective."

—MRG Donor in Eugene

MRG FOUNDATION EXPENSES

$1.54 MILLION

- Grantmaking 64%
- Community Education 19%
- Fundraising 10%
- Administration 7%
GIVING
more than money

Where do you go to when you want to connect with other people committed to social justice? In addition to the grantmaking programs at the core of our work, MRG nurtures a community of justice-seekers committed to social change through community conversations, justice socials, and signature events. Our deep connections with movement leaders across the state and across issues offer unique opportunities for thought-provoking dialogue and collective action.

IMPACT PROFILE
Critical Community Conversations

In summer 2013, two events rocked the U.S. as stark examples of how far we still have to go on racism: the Supreme Court blocked part of the 1964 Voting Rights Act, and the nation reeled with the implications of the acquittal of George Zimmerman in the killing of Trayvon Martin.

To give people a chance to come together and discuss how to respond to these setbacks in the long arc of work toward racial justice, MRG organized community conversations in Portland, Eugene, and Ashland. Drawing over 175 participants, the conversations created a space for people to consider the ramifications of these setbacks and plan for action.

At the same time, MRG funded a march on the 50th Anniversary of the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom organized by Albina Ministerial Alliance. AMA’s march protested the Supreme Court’s gutting of the Voting Rights Act and ignited a conversation about voting rights in Oregon.

MRG’s community conversations are supplemented throughout the year by justice socials and signature events like Justice within Reach, the Social Justice Summer Party in Eugene, and our Southern Oregon Celebration. When paired with our grantmaking, these community gatherings build a diverse and powerful foundation for social change in Oregon.

"MRG gives grassroots groups what they need to succeed, including networking opportunities, training, and other tools that help groups develop their ability to be inclusive and effective."
—MRG Donor in Eugene

MRG FOUNDATION EXPENSES

$1.54 MILLION

Grantmaking 54%
Community Education 19%
Fundraising 10%
Administration 7%
ORGANIZING a philanthropic movement

Oregon’s foundations move nearly $250 million into communities across the state each year. Where this money goes and how it’s used can have a huge impact on the future of the state, which is why MRG organizes within the wider foundation community to increase support of communities of color and community-based organizing. Partnering with other foundations and funder networks is an organization-wide effort:

- Executive Director Sharon Gary-Smith served on the GRANTMAKERS of Oregon and SW Washington and Philanthropy NW planning committee for the six-state regional conference of funders, delivering the opening address on the importance of equity and inclusion in the foundation sector.

- Deputy Director Anita Rodgers continued her service on the GRANTMAKERS program committee, coordinating workshops on funding in immigrant communities, supporting community-based organizing, and operationalizing equity.

- And Grants Program Director Cris Lira worked with MRG grantees to help them connect with other larger funders that might be interested in funding social justice work.

We can’t do this work alone. All of our work to support Oregon’s social justice movements takes many hands—activists organizing on the ground, volunteer leaders developing strategy, and generous donors fueling the work.

Whether you contribute $10 each month or $100,000 each year, your support is essential in building a just and joyful world.

As Oregon’s leading funder of social justice since 1976, MRG has a unique role of moving resources to activists on the ground. MRG has deep experience handling stock gifts, supporting estate planning, and hosting donor advised funds. However you want to support social change, we can help.

To learn more, donate stock, or open a donor advised fund please contact:

Carol Tatch, MRG Donor Relations Director, carol@mrgfoundation.org or 503-289-1517.

“MRG is rooted in the grassroots community and it’s important for that community to come together to support MRG.”

—Lauren Norris, Monthly Donor
ORGANIZING a philanthropic movement

Oregon’s foundations move nearly $250 million into communities across the state each year. Where this money goes and how it’s used can have a huge impact on the future of the state, which is why MRG organizes within the wider foundation community to increase support of communities of color and community-based organizing. Partnering with other foundations and funder networks is an organization-wide effort:

● Executive Director Sharon Gary-Smith served on the GRANTMAKERS of Oregon and SW Washington and Philanthropy NW planning committee for the six-state regional conference of funders, delivering the opening address on the importance of equity and inclusion in the foundation sector.

● Deputy Director Anita Rodgers continued her service on the GRANTMAKERS program committee, coordinating workshops on funding in immigrant communities, supporting community-based organizing, and operationalizing equity.

● And Grants Program Director Cris Lira worked with MRG grantees to help them connect with other larger funders that might be interested in funding social justice work.

We can’t do this work alone. All of our work to support Oregon’s social justice movements takes many hands—activists organizing on the ground, volunteer leaders developing strategy, and generous donors fueling the work.

Whether you contribute $10 each month or $100,000 each year, your support is essential in building a just and joyful world.

As Oregon’s leading funder of social justice since 1976, MRG has a unique role of moving resources to activists on the ground. MRG has deep experience handling stock gifts, supporting estate planning, and hosting donor advised funds. However you want to support social change, we can help.

To learn more, donate stock, or open a donor advised fund please contact:

Carol Tatch, MRG Donor Relations Director, carol@mrgfoundation.org or 503-289-1517.

"MRG is rooted in the grassroots community and it’s important for that community to come together to support MRG."

—Lauren Norris, Monthly Donor

To become a monthly donor, charge it online, donate stock, include MRG in your will, or establish a donor advised fund, please contact Carol Tatch at carol@mrgfoundation.org or 503-289-1517.
2013-2014 Staff
Sharon Gary-Smith
Edith Casterline
Lisa Dawson
Colin Jones
Cris Lira
Anita Rodgers
Sheryl Sackman
Kyle Weismann-Yee

Board of Directors
Cassandra Villanueva, Chair
Sirius Bonner, Vice Chair
Kimberlin Butler, Secretary
Diego Hernandez, Treasurer
Liz Baxter
Vicky Falcón-Vázquez
Shizuko Hashimoto
Chris Kahle
Andrea Miller
Jeff Selby

Grantmaking Committees
Khalil Edwards, Co-Chair
Vicky Falcón-Vázquez, Co-Chair
Amanda Aguilar-Shank
Israel Bayer
Patricia Cortez
Michelle Glass
Nate Gulley
Diem Huynh
Kayse Jama
Penny Lind
Andrea Miller
Terrie Quinteros
Ari Rapkin
Eric Richardson
Connie Saldaña
Esther Stutzman
Rosa Yadira Ortiz

Development Committee
Sirius Bonner, Chair
Crystal Froembling
Elisa Harrigan
Chris Kahle
Chris Winter
Carole Zoom

Finance Committee
Olga Turner, Chair
Charles Carroll
Diego Hernandez
Miriam Levitt, Bookkeeper
Pam Phan

Justice within Reach 2014
Jeff Selby, Chair
Yulia Arakelyan
Tyler Brewington
Bobby Fouther
Mariotta Gary-Smith
Inger McDowell
Heather Pruess